“ Bob, I will miss him so much. Your father was a staple of my life and I loved him greatly. He was a man we should all strive to be like, honest, trustworthy, no bullshit, kind, caring, generous. He was all of it and more. I have so many memories I want to share but one of my favorites is when he was 72 years old and I was 12 years old, we were at Hershey Park and I was terrified of going on a rollercoaster. He took me by the hand and he said let's take a ride, you have nothing to be afraid of. We got on that rollercoaster and got to the top of the ride and as it dropped I screamed "god bless America" haha not sure why but it felt right. When Uncle Joe told me something, it was gospel, I never questioned it once. He taught me to face fear and push through. Thank you for sharing him with me.
