“ I couldn't stand up to speak at my dad's funeral. Although I'm still devastated by his death, time has a way of helping little by little. Someone once said, "To the world you may be one person, but to one person you are the world." My dad was the world to me. Honestly, he was the world to many. He taught me to not care about what others think of me, believe that I can handle tough times, take my time and do things right the first time, and to value people for qualities like perseverance, hard work, and integrity. Not the number of degrees or social status a person possesses. He had a way of making me feel special and that my concerns were the most important thing in the world to him. He was not distracted, but really listened. I believe he always felt that he didn't provide enough for my family. Dad, you now know that you did provide more than we ever needed, and then some. Life was not very kind to you, yet you remained kind in life. I'll miss your understanding and encouragement, and most of all your love. Love always, Deena

“ Dear Hood Family, My son and I used to live in the same building as Dr. Hood's practice (just underneath his office) a few years ago. He was a very nice, kind gentleman and he will be sadly missed. May God be with you at this time.

“ To the Hood Family, I was shocked to read about your dad's passing. I actually tried to reach him last week and found his phone was disconnected. What a loss to the many, many patients that he so kindly cared for. He was a very kind, compassionate, intelligent man who was a pleasure to know and such fun to talk to. My mother, son and I had been his patient for many years and we will miss him dearly. Our deepest sympathy to you all for your loss.

“ To Suzanne, Jason and Deena we are so sorry for the loss of your dad. We didn't get to know him very well. The times we did share we found him to be a quiet, intelligent man with a sense of humor that sometimes took you by surprise. We love the three of you and hope that in time you will be able to remember your dad without the sadness and pain but only with the happiness you shared. Our thoughts are with you in this time of sadness.
