“ I am so sorry for your loss Ted. Witnessing the love, laughter and companionship the two of you shared over the years was an inspiration for my own life. The both of you opened your home and family to me and for that I will be forever grateful.

“ Aunt Helen called us Miss Pinch-a-Penny and Mrs. Save-a-Dollar. I was on of the five Auburn cousins. When we we young, holidays were spent at Nana and Pop Bishop's in Olyphant, playing 52 pickup or other card games. During summer visits, Neechie would initiate forays to a hidden side of the garage there to play house amidst a discarded kitchen sink and rusty tin cans. Nana would have had a fit. It was forbidden.

Neechie was the older, by three months. She lived in a big city (compared to Auburn) and I thought she was very cosmopolitan. As children we were penpals. Long distance phone calls were too expense, PC's nonexistent.

In the natural course of life, people lose contact. Our last contact, then, was when I returned her wedding dress, which she graciously lent me, a year after her wedding to Ted.

Fast forward about forty years. She wanted to re-establish cousin connections in addition to the annual Christmas cards. So phone calls ensued. Thank you, Erin, for moving to Rochester. She and Ted would stop and visit those of us cousins here on their way to Rochester. I'm thankful for the opportunity...to vicariously reconnect with the Cooper family, to find Neechie the same self assured, gracious, smiling person I remember, and to see that she was the matriarch of your family and loved you all so much.

Veesh na ya palmyat. Ever lasting memory.

“ To Our Darling Cousin,

When we were small (Jackie 14, Jeanne 12 and Nooshie 8) you were 16! You were our grown-up cousin. We quietly watched your beauty and grace. We remember your beautiful face, your stylish hair (the "Pageboy Fluff"), your dreamy fragrance (Jean Nate), your circle pin, your deep pink mohair sweater with your charcoal gray pleated skirt and gray knee socks...

Your style and grace will endure forever in the minds of all those you have touched.. As much as we thought about you then, we are thinking of you now.

We love you Niece. God bless your beautiful heart, mind, soul and spirit.

“ *Neese was my cousin, my first friend, childhood playmate, and life-time friend.
I will miss her deeply.
My thoughts are with all those who loved this beautiful woman as I did.*
