“During my early elementary school days, it was Grandmother’s Day, and Boeey was there for me. Oh, but, in true form, she showed up with poker chips and many small treasures which the entire class thought was out of this world. I relished that moment where I felt like the cool kid with the best Grandmother.

We also had a competition which involved choosing a token (mine was a little pig that was Maws) , then we had to contact people.....without the internet...and see how many letters from around the country we would receive, and thus, moving the pig on a map. Well...I barely had a any friends and never expected to win, but when the principal came to my room with a huge sack of letters...Boeey had so many people around the globe that loved her so much they’d do anything to help. My pig was everywhere! My first bit of confidence in myself which I carry with me everyday.

Thank you my amazing Boeey. Rest now.

“ She was a remarkable lady. She was my friend. My person to talk to when I needed to feel better. She made me what I was in tuperware. I loved her and made sure she new that. Nobody ever told me how much they loved me more then Beysy. I talked to her often. I will miss her every day..

“ We have lost a very dear friend. We are both part of the many Betsy influenced to become part of the Tupperware family. Charlie went willingly and it took five years to convince me to join this very unique company. Betsy was a pillar of strength and energy beyond belief because she believed she was helping those who were willing to work at it to have a better life. She was such a positive thinker and was always up even through these last years of her life. This and her sense of humor is what I will always remember about Betsy. We laughed each time we went for lunch or when I visited her at home. I have a plaque that says, We will be friends until we are old and senile, then we will be NEW friends. That was a gift from Betsy and I will always have these memories of her sense of humor. We will miss you, my dear friend. Love forever, Janie and Charlie
