“ I am saddened to hear of Eleanor's passing. She was an exceptional person. She ministered to countless clergy and laity, myself included, in the EPC through the position she held in Pensions and Health Benefits. And she did so with excellence. How blessed I feel to have known her.

“ As we all know, office politics, even in a Christian setting, can be difficult, but Eleanor was always cheerful and helpful. I can't even remember the number of times she found information or solved a problem and did so in her quiet and efficient way. I missed her when she retired, and am glad to know that she enjoyed her family and her church in her retirement. I am glad I knew her as a colleague and as a Christian.

“ I greatly appreciated Eleanor's ministry to our Conference, which she accomplished with professionalism, genuine care and humor - a feat in itself at such a job - and enjoyed getting to know her as a person over the years I have served with her. I was greatly saddened and surprised to learn of her death. May your faith sustain you in this time of grieving for her.

“ I too am saddened to hear of Eleanor's death. I went through many changes as a pastor in Eastern PA Conference, and talked to Eleanor often. Her smile, caring heart and attention to details, following through with all tasks with such love and compassion as well as just a really wonderful, faithful human being will always be remembered and cherished. May God's light shine in the shadows of grief and be with your family at this time and always.

“ This came as a great shock to me. Eleanor was such a lovely person, always full of life and an encouraging word. The pictures here have her smiling and that is what I remember -- she would always smile and laugh with us. I will never forget how she would always ask us about our grandchildren and be quick to share her pictures and her love for hers as well. I am saddened to know she has left this life, but I know she loved the Lord (and reflected His love so well!) and when I think of the great cloud of witnesses spoken of in Hebrews, I will think of her and look forward to seeing her again one day...With thanksgiving to the Lord for her and the gift of God's grace she was to us all, Robin Fisher, Pastor in the Eastern Pennsylvania Conference

“ I was so sorry to learn of Eleanor's death. I was privileged to work with her for four years in the Conference Center at Valley Forge. I can still see her smile and hear her voice! She was a wise, even-tempered and patient friend, always ready with a friendly greeting, a helping hand, a steady presence. I could count on her. Her bright spirit lifted many a day and helped us all to know what it meant to live a good life, full of faith. She will be loved and missed by many.

“ I was saddened to hear of Ellie's death. She was truly engaged in servant ministry; a friend to all clergy and church leaders who ever had questions while navigating the health and pension options. There were so many times that we called upon her for help, and she was always there to give it -- cheerful, thoughtful, and caring. May God grant peace and give comfort to her family. I thank God for the blessing of her life and work.

“ We grieve at the Conference Office for a saint in all the true aspects of that word. Eleanor affected each one of us in a way that no words could ever begin to adequately explain. She touched our lives and we are better individuals because of her. We love her, celebrate her homecoming and hold her beloved family and extraordinary grandchildren in boundless prayer.
