“ Gina "Big Head"

Al & I miss you so much. We sit outside and it's just the same anymore. We wait for you to yell something smart out or come outside and chill with us. I always wanna text you to remind you what shows are on, or when we borrow stuff from each other like nail polish remover or for a roll of toilet paper. Also how we made fun of people that were passing by. LOL.

Miss you Gina <3

“ I wrote a letter to my sister of all the things I wanted to say to her. Things I wish I could say to her face to face. I know she’s listening from a different place now.

Hi Geeg,

I miss you. I keep looking at your picture. Trying to remember the last time I saw you. What you were wearing. What did we talk about? Did I remember to give you a hug and a kiss? My heart feels broken. I feel empty. I want to call you, tell you to meet me & Alduccio at mom’s to go swimming. I know you would probably bring Aldo the newest toy from Mcdonald’s or candy that you know he’ll love, even though you know I don’t want him to have it. I remember when the smurfs came out, you made sure that he got every last one. He loved that about you. How you used to always think about him and I know he misses playing with you. I can still hear you say “What’s up dude?” every time you saw him.

Remember when we went to see Usher and Alicia keys in concert? You were the only one I knew who liked the same music I did. Who am I going to call now when I need to know who sings the newest hip-hop or r&b song on the radio?

When we were kids, it was just you and me. Summers in wildwood, riding the super-doooper-looper over and over again. Playing miniature golf at duffer’s. Swimming in the ocean with dad for hours, not telling each other when a big wave was coming from behind. I Remember one time we were goofing off in our bedroom swinging from the door. Mom & Dad kept yelling at us to stop, but we kept doing it until you landed butt first on that glass lamp. It took a lot of stitches to fix that gash and dad was not happy.

I keep thinking about our New York trips. How you used to drag us into side streets and hidden back rooms on Canal Street looking for the latest Coach or Gucci bag. How you had a list of perfume you wanted and how you would hound everyone for the best price. We had so much fun spending the day hopping on and off the subway and seeing the Christmas tree. I can’t imagine going without you, it will never be the same.

There is so much I will miss about you. Your beautiful smile. Your sparkling blue eyes. Your latest cell phone ring tone. Your yummy buffalo chicken dip. Your newest pair of sneakers. The way you used to take forever to order at a restaurant. How much you loved to lay out in the sun. How much fun you had with kids. Talking about the latest drama on Real Housewives of New Jersey or Basketball wives. Holidays with our family. Russian dressing. Macaroni & Cheese.

*I hope you know how much I loved you. You will forever be on my mind and in my heart. I never got a chance to say goodbye to you. For now I will say see you in heaven my sweet baby sister.
Always, Amie*
