“ My sincere condolences to Jim's family. I'm sure Heaven will never be the same as Jim joined Jim. I so remember a day our house was being built and Jim was helping his friend Jim put on siding. I was at home but decided to check on their progress. As I approached the house a bad thunderstorm was brewing but there on the roof were both of them laying back like nothing was about to happen. Well they were stuck. They had put a ladder up to check the roof but didn't position it above the roof so they could get down. It certainly was interesting trying to get them down many laughs later. Precious memories.
