“ I did not know Uncle Jim very well. He was primarily a figure from my childhood, when we all got together for dinner at Grandmother's place. That being said, Uncle Jim struck me as a quiet & reserved person. Seemingly slow to anger, he was always kind to me. He was more reserved, kind of like his Dad....whereas his Mom was outwardly jovial and personable. But....these are the memories of a little boy.

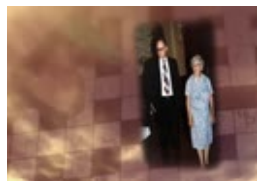

His life-long attachment to the Cedarville UMC testify to his unflappable faith in God and family. I sure wish I could have known him better, but my future was governed by others, which removed me from my childhood Pottstown roots, never to return.

I learned more about my Uncle Jim in the video presentation than anywhere else. It looks like he followed the path & example that his parents laid before him, with faith and dignity. Please give my Dad a big hug for me, when you see him. I am proud to call you & yours FAMILY. You both can rest, now.
