“ My deepest sympathies go out to all of Linda's family. She was my loyal friend, as well as my partner in countless adventures over the last forty years. We saw each other through good times and bad, never once doubting that we were invincible together. We shared laughter and tears, heartaches and celebrations, confidences known only to each other, and in all these years we never exchanged an angry word between us. She had a heart of gold, an unending love for her dogs and her family, and she wasn't nearly as tough as she wanted you to believe. Stubborn...yes, but she was not tough. My heart is broken as I bid you godspeed, my friend....I'll miss you and will cherish your memory forever. May you find the peace you've been looking for...I love you.

Linda's many attributes included a bright intelligence, humor, loyalty, self-deprecation, and spunk. She loved her family and frequently shared her pride in their accomplishments ... head librarian, concert pianist, Cleveland Clinic NP and much more. To me she was a good friend and I was lucky to know her. Barbara Tighe
