“ Marge was always happy and pleasant and we were lucky to have known her.

Jane and Ric loved bridge as much as Marge, and also enjoyed playing at the Senior Center for many years. Jane was on the NCCCNS board with Marge and enjoyed the second Friday monthly bridge game.

“ Marge and Glen were my neighbors on Sycamore Lane. Their house, barn, and yard play into so many of my childhood memories. Marge babysat me when I was little, or maybe I just wandered over there all the time because I liked them and their beautiful farmhouse. I'm very thankful I had the chance to be given candy from Marge's ever-full candy dish on her kitchen table, catch big bass and sunfish in their pond, go iceskating and sit in the springhouse in winter, go sledding on their hill, play with (and name a few of) their cats and kittens in the barn, collect the eggs from their chickens, and prickly chestnuts and apples in the backyard, bang on their piano, and bemusedly watch Marge answer the phone in a special phone closet they had. Thinking back on it, us Sycamore Lane kids were over there all the time, and Marge and Glen were very generous in allowing us to come and go pretty much as we pleased; not many folks are like that anymore, and few places like the Sycamore Lane of my childhood exist. Marge was one of the warmest, nicest women I've ever met, and although I'm deeply saddened by her passing, it makes me happy to know she and Glen are reunited, as I'm sure she missed him. Sending hugs and condolences to their kids, grandkids, and everyone who misses them as much as I do.

When I joined the family 30 yrs ago, and first met Marge, she stood out as classy, and uniquely kind and sweet. She was a warm and loving woman- very beautiful too! I have wonderful, funny memories of visiting her and Glenn at the farmhouse, and enjoying their interesting style of living. Marge was so graceful as she welcomed and accommodated people. Growing up in her family, neighborhood, bridge or friend group would have been a privilege. I feel I had a privilege by having met her, and spent time with her. She left a strong impression of what it is like to be caring and patient, and accepting. This statement in her obituary, 'she was an angel on earth', is what I thought, too, about Marge. I'm sad to hear her work on earth is done and she is gone. I would have liked at least one more opportunity to visit with her!

My sincerest condolences to Maryellen, Scott, and Kim, and your families, and Marge's siblings, and her close relatives. Your hearts must be broken with sorrow. Bless you all.
