“ You are the best friend I ever had. Your kindness, compassion and empathy filled rooms even before you entered them. You were the strongest person I've ever known and you taught me so much about happiness and life by your strong examples in your life, despite your pain you still managed to be happy and help others including me through my tough times. I will always remember you by keeping you in my heart where ever I go.
Until we meet again my dear sweet friend.

“ Tammy, may you finally be out of pain and at peace. Your kindness was endless, your soul was beautiful and your smile was contagious. May God bless you, your family and cradle them in His arms, as they mourn your loss. Wish I could attend, just can't travel there now. Until we meet again, may you Rest In Peace
